

Mike Clark

Mike Clark was born in Johannesburg, and after completing his National Service in the South African Air Force, he studied building management.

Mike gained management experience in various industries, and in 1999, he joined the Aviation industry at BalmOral, a Durban-based aircraft operations company.

After BalmOral, Mike joined NAC's international operations, gaining valuable aviation operational experience. While at NAC, Mike completed a Master's in aviation management at the Da Vinci Institute.

Shortly after completing his degree, he accepted a position at ExecuJet Aviation, where he was promoted to Operations Director and spent seven years in the role.

In 2015, Mike joined Swift Flite as the CEO, and in September 2020, he accepted a position as Managing Director – aircraft sales and aviation services with Absolute Aviation.

Today, Mike serves as a Director on the CAASA board and previously held the role of CAASA President.
